

The map displays the geographical distribution of sampling locations across the Iberian Peninsula, specifically focusing on Spain. The map is divided into administrative regions. Sampling locations are marked with dots: white dots for general locations, blue dots for specific locations, and a single dark blue dot for a specific location. An inset map shows the Balearic Islands.